DataArt, the global technology consultancy that designs, develops and supports unique software solutions, has been shortlisted for Travolution Awards as the Best Travel Technology Team of the Year for the second year in a row.

Charlotte Lamp Davies, Vice President, Travel & Hospitality Europe at DataArt said: "The past 12 months have seen the DataArt Travel & Hospitality Practice build on existing successes to consistently provide a best-in-the-business service to their clients. The team has formed a dedicated Solution Design Group to further improve its industry-leading skill and knowledge base. In addition, we are thrilled to welcome ISS GMT, Travelbird, Trainline, the ParkingSpot, JacTravel and Travelport as new clients.

"It is an honour to be shortlisted for the second year in a row for this prestigious award. This is a testament to the dedication and expertise of DataArt's wonderful and dedicated Travel and Hospitality practice as well as the consistent results we deliver for our clients."

Judged by a panel drawn from the leading executives, experts and entrepreneurs in the travel and hospitality industry, the Travolution Awards acknowledge companies, brands and individuals who excel in the fields of online travel distribution, digital marketing and technology.

The Best Technology Team of the Year category rewards the team that in the past year has delivered the most outstanding examples of technology solutions. It is judged on the level of technological know-how and expertise and how the teams solved key issues for their clients or parent company and delivered return on investment.

In addition to the shortlisting, DataArt's Travel and Hospitality practice in the past year also became Oracle's Gold Level Partner, joined the Travelport Partner Network, and hosted the sixth industry keynote Travel Question Time event in UK attended by senior figures from across the travel trade.

Winners will be announced at a special ceremony in London on the 28th November.
